Reading & Writing

Story: Fire Fighter!

Genre: Nonfiction

Skills: Text Structure

Readers will practice using text structure to accompany main idea and details using this week's story about fire fighters. What makes this a dangerous job? In writing, we will continue to work on publishing our final nonfiction pieces.

Math

We will wrap up our subtraction module this week and begin our next module, data and money. Students will graph, use tables, collect data and use their data to compare information! Keep up the great work practicing math facts!

Social Studies

We have finished our literature circles and will begin the story The Drinking Gourd, a story of a family of conductors on the Underground Railroad. How will Tommy's family help the runaways?
